The 17 international exchange partner universities listed above are accepting applications for short-term student exchanges from students of the School of Art and Design and Graduate School of Comprehensive Human Sciences Master's Program and Doctoral Program in Art and Design (college students only for the University of Barcelona). There is usually no set month for applications, as the application deadlines are at the end of the month and interviews are conducted during the following month. However, we anticipate a large number of applicants for the abovementioned 17 universities; thus, applications will only be accepted during this time to ensure a fair screening process. Interested students can obtain application documents from the Art and Physical Education Area Academic Service Office Area Commons. You must attend an application interview with the liaison and coordination supervisor faculty member of the university abroad, and apply by 3:00 p.m. on Friday, December 14 after verifying the requirements of your area of research, specific period you will be on exchange, and your application eligibility in terms of linguistic ability (TOEFL, IELTS, etc.).

When preparing your application, please notify your class homeroom teacher or supervisor. Interviews will be held in mid-January.
